

Political Action Committee Fundraising Important Guidelines

- Political Action Committees are prohibited by state law from accepting contributions from corporations. As a result, all contributions must come from individuals, not corporations.
- Contributions to Political Action Committees can come in the form of personal checks, money orders, cashier's checks and credit cards.
- There is no maximum limit on individual contributions to a Political Action Committee. Contributions over $200 must include the individual's full name, address, employer, amount donated and the date the contribution was received.
- Anonymous donations may not exceed $20.00. Any individual contribution exceeding $20.00 must be recorded with the individual's full name, address, amount donated and the date the contribution was received.
- Political Action Committee contributions are voluntary. You may refuse to contribute without reprisal.
- Political Action Committee contributions ARE NOT tax deductible.
- Corporations cannot donate food for a potluck or bake sale. Food and other items must be from individual contributions. If the value of these items exceeds $20.00, the donor's name, address, value of item and date contributed must be recorded.
